FUND DESCRIPTION

The Vetiva Banking ETF "VETBANK ETF" is an open-ended Exchange Traded Fund managed by Vetiva Fund Managers Limited. The VETBANK ETF is designed to track the performance of the constituent companies of the NGX BANKING Index and to replicate the price and yield performance of the Index.

INDEX DESCRIPTION

The NGX BANKING Index comprises of the top 10 banks listed on the Nigerian Exchange Group ("NGX") in terms of market capitalization and liquidity and is a price index weighted by adjusted market capitalization.

MARKET REVIEW & OUTLOOK

The All-Share Index (ASI) continued firmly in positive territory in February, gaining 3.18% month-on-month (m/m), with the ASI closing the month at 107,821.39 points resulting in a YTD gain of 4.76%.

Looking at the sectoral performance, the NGX Banking index was the worst performing index, posting a loss of -2.07% m/m. We saw profit-taking activities during the month even as investors also aligned their expectations ahead of earnings releases. Major stocks like ZENITHBANK (-4.45% m/m), UBA (-2.39% m/m), ACCESSCORP (-1.54% m/m) and FBNH (-2.17% m/m) declined m/m contributing to this red close. Overall, the changes in the NGX Banking Index throughout February 2025 were largely driven by heavy trading in the Tier I banking stocks.

While we remain optimistic about the potential in the banking sector moving forward, even as we anticipate more positive corporate earnings releases in the coming months, we note that the sector has recorded a 7.49% gain year-to-date and see room for bears to poke their heads particularly given the moderation in interest rates recently.
