FUND DESCRIPTION

The Vetiva Banking ETF "VETBANK ETF" is an open-ended Exchange Traded Fund managed by Vetiva Fund Managers Limited. The VETBANK ETF is designed to track the performance of the constituent companies of the NGX BANKING Index and to replicate the price and yield performance of the Index.

INDEX DESCRIPTION

The NGX BANKING Index comprises of the top 10 banks listed on the Nigerian Exchange Group ("NGX") in terms of market capitalization and liquidity and is a price index weighted by adjusted market capitalization.

MARKET REVIEW & OUTLOOK

The Nigerian ASI closed 92bps down for the month of October. However, Year to date, the All-Share Index returned 30.60% owing to losses in select large cap stocks so far this year.

Taking a cursory look, the Banking Index witnessed some selloffs following September's profit-taking activities but later rebounded due to the bargain hunting activities by Investors who considered the stocks to be at attractive price entry level. In line with this, we saw the index record a gain of 4.78% m/m driven by gains in ACCESSCORP (+7.04), GTCO (+11.88%) and ZENITH (+5.83%). We note that 8 out of the 10 stocks in the banking index closed the month in the green, driving the strong performance recorded in the Banking Space. Similarly, we saw the Vetiva Banking Exchange Traded Fund mirror this positive performance as the ETF returned 1.06% and 7.59 % month to date and year to date respectively.

Looking ahead, we expect trading sentiment for banking stocks to be supported by strong positive earnings performances across both Tier-I and II banks. Overall, while we note the 10.30% YTD gain recorded in the banking sector, we see room for more positive returns in the coming month.
