MARKET REVIEW & OUTLOOK

In June, whilst trading sentiment on the Nigerian bourse remained mixed for most of the month, we saw the NGX ASI close with a gain of 0.75% month-on-month (m/m).

On a sectoral basis, the Consumer Goods Index closed the month with a mild gain of 1.11% m/m. The major movers during the month which contributed to this mild gain were NESTLE (1.66%), NB (11.32%), FLOURMILL (17.11%) and GUINNESS (35.22%). We note their weight in the index were 9.22%, 3.83%, 2.31% and 1.86% respectively. Other stocks which closed in the green in the index were, UNILEVER (19.60%), INTBREW (18.63%), CHAMPION (16.67%) and HONEYFLOUR (12.00%). While the large cap stock "BUAFOOD" remained flat month-on-month during the month.

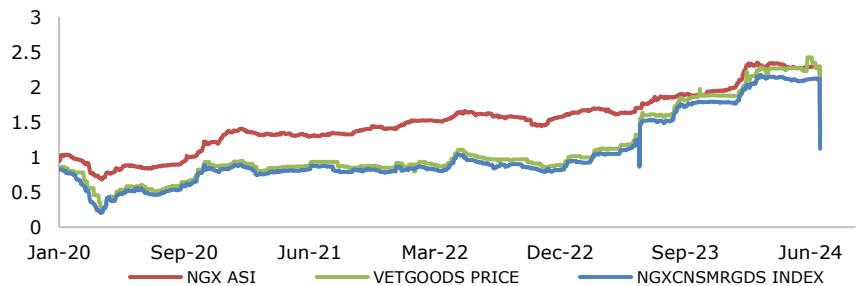

Looking ahead, although we may see weak sentiment due to the likely impact of sustained macro headwinds in the consumer goods sector, we expect trading activity and sentiment on the Nigerian stock exchange to be driven by expectations and eventual releases of corporate earnings for H1'2024.
